The instructions for item two on the online satellite claim form state: "If the copyright owner is the same as the person or entity identified in number 1, please enter 'SAME.'" Because the claimant and the copyright owner are in fact identical, I entered "SAME" on the claim form I submitted yesterday. Please let me know if this was incorrect, and if so, the steps required to file an amended claim.

Thank you for your assistance.

The Copyright Office received your 2002 satellite claim. A properly filed claim however, must be filed in a timely manner and contain all of the elements outlined in the Code of Federal Regulations. 37 CFR 252.3 (filing regulations for Cable claims) or CFR 257.3 (filing regulations for Satellite claims).

After reviewing the claim for compliance with the applicable regulations, the Office is returning your claim because the following element(s) was missing or incomplete:

[X] Missing Address of Copyright Owner - The full legal name, address, and phone number of the copyright owner on whose behalf the claim is filed. (The claim must clearly identify both the name of the copyright owner, and the name of the claimant filing on behalf of the copyright owner, including the address).

*NOTE: Please be sure to clearly state that the claim you are re-submitting is an amended claim. ****

Since your claim was timely filed, you may submit an amended claim which contains all the requisite elements on or before Wednesday, July 16, 2003. You must re-submit the entire claim, not just the missing information, in order to make your claim correct.

Please contact me at 202-707-8380 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
